

Welcome to Summer

small moments · full life

FIRST DAY: JUNE 21, 2027

LAST DAY: SEPTEMBER 22, 2027

The year opens outward into warmth, movement, and long light. We enjoy what is growing, welcome company, and carry care into the wider world.

joy · gratitude · courage generosity · presence · responsibility

Summer Begins

MONDAY, JUNE 21 AT 7:11 AM PACIFIC

The summer solstice brings our longest daylight period. Daylight then gradually decreases toward fall. Choose outdoor moments that suit local heat and weather.

Seasonal Touchpoints

Pick and choose what matters for you and yours. Invitations, not a checklist.

JUNE 21

Summer Solstice

Northern Hemisphere · astronomical marker

gratitude · presence

Spend a few minutes with the long evening light.

A DAY THAT WORKS FOR YOU

A Summer Gathering

Friendship · original everyday invitation

hospitality · fellowship

Invite someone to bring one part of a simple meal.

JUNE 24

Saint John's / Johanni

Christian · John the Baptist · Waldorf courage · truthfulness · purpose

Hear John's story and choose one good thing to put into action.

AFTER TRAVEL OR A BUSY STRETCH

Returning to Rhythm

Home life · original everyday invitation

steadiness · loving care

Return to a familiar meal, story, or evening pause.

JULY 4

Independence Day

United States · civic observance

responsibility · community

Ask what caring for your community could look like today.

BEFORE YOUR NEXT BEGINNING

A Seasonal Handoff

Late summer · original everyday invitation

gratitude · courage · readiness

Keep one summer memory; choose one small preparation for fall.

WHEN LOCAL FRUIT RIPENS

Fruit and First Harvests

Local nature · original everyday invitation

gratitude · generosity

Share ripe fruit and thank the people who helped it reach you.

Small Moments · Full Life

A fuller life, one small moment at a time.

Selected Northern Hemisphere dates · Pacific time · local observances vary smallmomentsfulllife.com · Boundary date marks the handoff to the next season.